To Whom It May Concern:

I would like to formally make an objection to the action of Google.com violating my book copyrights by way of creating a book database including my materials without my permission.

As an author of more than twenty titles, all published by reputable publishers in the past two decades, I object to the action Google.com has taken and hereby join the class-action lawsuit against them. I have filed claims with the settlement agreement (with www.googlebooksettlement.com) and will bow the settlement agreement when it is court approved and I expect to be remunerated by the Book Rights Registry with payment to rightsholders (me) from revenues of their use of the book database.

Sincerely,

ake Steve Cox
